

ONCE POOR, MILLIONAIRE FATHERS 300 ORPHANS

Man Who Has Had Hard Struggle Makes Life Easier for Others

N. E. A. Staff Special

TULSA, Okla.—As provider for 100 widows, and father to 300 orphans, Charles Page is realizing the dream of a life that matches fiction—a life with moral values.

The story of his rise from nothing to millions is really the story of a boy, made in boyhood, broken in youth, and fulfilled in maturity. It is the story of Success and Failure alternating.

Charles Page's father died when the boy was 10, and most of the family's property went to pay the doctor bill.

As the lad struggled for a living in a little Wisconsin village he promised himself that once he attained wealth he would help others in the circumstances he suffered then.

MADE A FORTUNE.

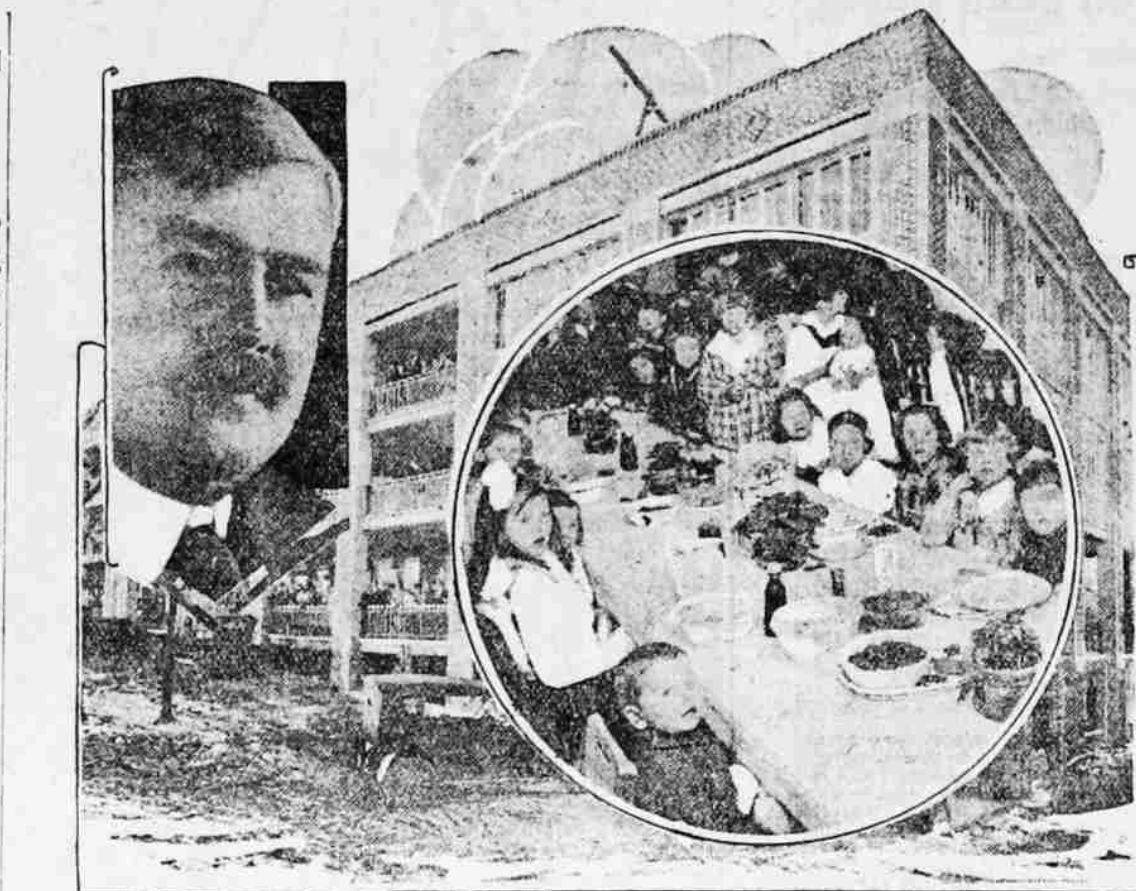

After years of adversity he made his way into the northwest and took up the lumber business.

"One morning I awakened and realized I was no longer poor," he says. "I knew I had reached the point at which I had promised myself I would start helping others. And I knew I was not alone."

The vow forgotten, Charles Page went ahead making money. A few months passed and a deal turned wrong. He went "broke." He looked upon the wreckage of his fortune, and once more vowed he would help others if he were able again.

His second success came after he had been through the Cripple Creek gold rush, and had come to Oklahoma and the oil fields.

On the present site of Sand Springs, seven miles from here, he had a tent pitched. He sent a family of seven orphaned children there, and hired a man to care for them. From that time on, the Sand Springs Orphans' Home has grown.

The Page foundation is not an "assumed" thing. It is truly a home. Children taken there consider it such are given starts in business. Scores find the world they prefer in the various Page enterprises.

WELCOME TO ALL.

The home does not cease as such when the money runs out. It is provided with food, clothing and fuel.

If they find sorrow or failure in the world, they may return to shelter and friendship until they are able to begin anew.

A number of widows with families have been given shelter and are provided with food, clothing and fuel.

DELaware REPUBLICANS CONDEMN WILSON POLICY

DOVER, Del., Aug. 25.—Condemning President Wilson and his administration, the Republican state convention here yesterday also endorsed a league of nations with reservations, declaring that the president had used his foreign policy for political purposes.

Colonel William D. Denney, of Dover, was nominated for governor; Congressman Caleb R. Layton, re-nominated.

For the first time in twenty years harmony prevailed at the convention, due it was said, to the withdrawal of Alfred E. DuPont from politics, which brought about the death of the independent Republican faction.

Are You Human?

A little baby. A little child. Don't they appeal to you? Doesn't your heart yearn to pick them up, to cuddle them close to you, to shield them from all harm? sure it does else you're not human. Being human you love them. Their very helplessness makes you reach out in all your strength to aid them. In health there's no flower so beautiful. In illness there's no sight so black.

Save them then. Use every precaution. Take no chance.

When sickness comes, as sickness will, remember its just a baby, just a child and if the Physician isn't at hand don't try some remedy that you may have around the house for your own use.

Fletcher's Castoria was made especially for babies' ills and you can use it with perfect safety as any doctor will tell you. Keep it in the house.

Do the People Know?

Do you know why you are asked to call for Fletcher's Castoria when you want a child's remedy? why you must insist on Fletcher's? For years we have been explaining how the popularity of Fletcher's Castoria has brought out innumerable imitations, substitutes and counterfeits.

To protect the babies: to shield the homes and in defense of generations to come we appeal to the better judgment of parents to insist on having Fletcher's Castoria when in need of a child's medicine. And remember above all things that a child's medicine is made for children—a medicine prepared for grown-ups is not interchangeable. A baby's food for a baby. And a baby's medicine is just as essential for the baby.

DEATH CLOSES STORMY CAREER

Lieutenant Colonel Ray Was Central Figure in Controversy and Inquiry

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Lieutenant Colonel, Beecher B. Ray, U. S. A., retired, who died yesterday in Los Angeles was the central figure in a controversy and congressional investigation which started early in the last year of the Taft administration and which did not end until after Woodrow Wilson became president.

Colonel Ray, at the time of the investigation which amounted to something akin to a sensation, was a major in the paymaster corps. The inquiry started after Representative Covington of Maryland had charged that in response to his resolution calling for information relative to alleged misconduct of the part of officers in the paymaster corps, the war department failed to include certain important letters. These missing letters, most of which related to Major Ray, occupied a large part in a resulting investigation.

The house committee on war expenditures found that Major Ray had been engaged in political activity, particularly in the interest of President Taft had been four times charged with serious offenses, never vindicated, and never had been disciplined more severely than a reprimand.

On the eve of the presentation of the report, President Taft nominated Ray to be deputy paymaster general of the army with the rank of lieutenant colonel and another controversy ensued. Ray's nomination failed of confirmation and he was given a recess appointment. President Wilson early in his first administration jumped a number of officers over Ray after Attorney General McReynolds had handed down a ruling in the case. Ray then attempted to obtain an injunction to prevent the promotions over his head but lost his case in the courts. He was retired in 1917 for disability.

PAPERS PRAISE ACTION ON REDS

More Vigorous Action May Result From Lloyd George Conference

LONDON, Aug. 25.—London newspapers in commenting on decisions reached at Lucerne by Lloyd George and Premier Giolitti and the resulting British note to the Russian soviet, strongly commend the action taken.

The British and Italian statements says the Chronicle, "are very anxious to come to an agreement with Russia, but no agreement is possible unless the Russian government removes the idea that it will not keep such in good faith."

Quoting President Wilson's note to the Italian ambassador in Washington on the Russian situation the Morning Post declares:

"Mr. Lloyd George, who will now subscribe to these weighty words after his experience with Kameneff, alias Rosenfeld for the British, it is quite clear, has to choose between the soviet and the ruffians of Moscow."

After warmly commending the British premier's stand, the Times says the policy announced at Lucerne gives "promise of more vigorous action."

COX ATTACKS G.O.P. CAMPAIGN

Promises to Bare Campaign Fund Scandal in Pittsburgh Speech

PRINCETON, Aug. 25.—Attack on Republican campaign financing was renewed by Governor Cox, Democratic presidential candidate in an address here today and he reiterated his promise to expose affairs tomorrow at Pittsburgh.

"Exorbitant sums of money," Governor Cox declared "are being contributed to the Republican cause by 'selfish, greedy interests to buy the election.'"

"It is my privilege and it will be my chief aim," the governor "to expose the senatorial plot and to reveal the interests that are a part of it."

Large crowds applauded the candidate here in the E. A. Smith hotel where he had breakfast and a hotel reception with a parade to the station. He was to speak here tonight. This was "Cox" day for the Democracy of southern Indiana, with visitors also from Kentucky and southern Illinois.

"The campaign this year," he declared "turns almost exclusively on the question of whether a small group of men in the United States senate shall run the country. They are as far removed from the heart beats of the great mass of the people as was German military autocracy prior to the war, and the vital interests of that country."

In discussing agricultural questions Governor Cox said he favored farmer members of the federal reserve board, the interstate Commerce Commission and the tariff commission. Agricultural production, he said, must be increased or America will be importing food stuffs within a short time.

"Rehabilitation of the railroad," Governor Cox declared is necessary to aid not only railroad, but agricultural mining and other interests.

"We hear a great deal said from reactionary leaders," he continued "about operation of the railroads during the war. I am of the opinion that federal control enabled us to win the war."

"Mining troubles," Governor Cox added "have been caused in many instances by shortage of cars."

"Men have not been enabled to keep at work with the miner it is not how much he receives an hour or day, but for a year. It is perfectly apparent that the labor cost on the tonnage of coal has been high and this has not been due to the mine, but to the condition of the railroads."

ALASKAN MINERS GREET AVIATORS WATER PROJECT

Four Army Airplanes Make Landing at "Gold Beach" Near Nome

NOME, Alaska, Aug. 24.—(Delayed)—Prospectors, miners and natives from villages for miles around Nome greeted the four United States army aviators when they landed on the famous "Gold Beach" late yesterday.

Captain St. Clair Street, head of the airplane expedition, was enthusiastic over the flight. The machines left Nome, L. I. July 14 and were reported by Captain Street to be in perfect condition for a return flight.

"We are enthusiastic over the success of the flight because it has accomplished what was believed to be impossible—the establishment of aerial communication with Alaska," said Captain Street. "The entire trip was made with the original motors and they are still running."

Fogs and storms that had delayed the departure of the aviators from Ruby gave way yesterday to warm and clear skies.

The aviators were first sighted far out over Norton Sound, and at 5:30 they made a perfect landing on the beach.

The middle-west and Canada as far as Edmonton, Alberta, proved the most ideal flying territory," Captain Street said, in describing the journey.

"After we reached the Rocky Mountains we found few landing fields, chiefly because of the rough nature of the country and the heavy forests. As we flew over Southeastern Alaska, we sighted innumerable glaciers. In the interior of Alaska, the unexplored territory we could land only on the bars of the rivers."

ROAD FOR SIBERIA.

The trip determined the feasibility of establishing mail, express and passenger communication with Alaska, Captain Street asserted.

"I expect to see such routes established in the not far distant future," he said.

Before leaving for the return trip to Nome, the planes will probably fly west to Cape Prince of Wales, circling Diomed Islands and possibly flying over the Siberian coast for a short distance, according to Captain Street. The flight will be made as soon as weather conditions permit.

The company filed answer admitting all averments of the bill and assenting to the appointment of a receiver.

It is alleged by counsel for both creditors and the corporation that it is solvent, having assets of $4,900,000, and liabilities amounting to $3,000,000.

GOVERNORS PLAN GREAT AVIATORS WATER PROJECT

Bamberger Tells Denver Meeting of Mountain Tunnels Through Peaks

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 25.—Systematic development of 244,000 square miles of land in the Colorado river basin and construction of three mountain tunnels, were the main topics before the governors and officials of seven southwestern states here today.

The first presentation of the main subject of the meeting, the Colorado river area reclamation project, was made at the morning session by George W. Bamberger, an engineer of the Denver Water Commission. He said the area concerned included: Arizona, 195,860 square miles; Utah, 40,210 square miles; Colorado, 37,780 square miles; New Mexico, 22,300 square miles; Wyoming, 17,420 square miles; Nevada, 12,440 square miles; California, 1,400 square miles; Republic of Mexico, 3,690 square miles.

Fifty per cent of the 16,990,000 acres of water flow originate in Colorado, Bamberger said, but up to the present little effort has been expended toward its utilization for power or irrigation.

The mountain tunnel proposition of equal interest to all parts of Colorado, was brought before the meeting by Mayor Dewey C. Bailey, of Denver, in his address of welcome. Governor Oliver H. Shoup, of Colorado, mentioned the tunnels in his talk and then Governor Simon Bamberger, of Utah, discussed them.

"I don't believe the people of Colorado have the faintest conception of the wealth of the western part of the state that will be developed with the building of the three proposed tunnels."

AMERICANS RELEASED.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 25.—All the Americans kidnapped by Pedro Zamora, the bandit leader at Cuale, Jalisco last week have been released, according to reliable advices from Guadalajara, capital of Jalisco. These reports state that Zamora has surrendered.

OGDEN, UTAH

Mr. Wilford Day,

Parang, Iron County, Utah.

Dear Friend:

Edgar A. Guest in one of his many good poems, says:

"When you get to know a fellow, know his every mood and whim. You begin to find the texture of the splendid side of him."

You know the value of a close acquaintance, especially when you are called upon to choose men for responsible positions. You and I, and every wide-awake citizen of Utah, are facing that duty now.

It is because I know the "splendid side" and admirable qualities of Mr. W. M. Mattie that I am writing you this letter. I hope that you, too, know him as I. If so, then I know that you will be as ardent in your support of him, as I am.

Mr. Mattie, as you know, is a candidate for the nomination for Governor of Utah on the Republican ticket. For this position he is best eminently qualified. With his native ability and sterling worth, he possesses a character built upon the firm foundation of honesty and fair dealing. He is a man of wide and eminently successful business experience. He is a leader among his fellows and a good organizer of men. At public functions, he presides with intelligence and dignity, and, withal, a cordiality that puts all present at perfect ease. Loyal and true to his people in Utah and the West, he is not only willing, but able to serve them for their very best interests.

For the good of our fair State, for the success of the Republican Party, let us hold together and give Mr. Mattie the nomination.

With best wishes, I am,

Most cordially yours,

David D. Hay
